

Bat plan Begins...

A TEAM of Irish scientists have made a breakthrough in relation to artificial human muscles.

Their findings will be of huge benefit to soft robotics engineers.

Prof Michel Destrade of NUI Galway compared this technology to a scene in Batman Begins.

He said: "If you can remember the scene in Batman Begins where this huge bat cape emerges from a tiny folded piece of material, that's the kind of technology."

